

20 Killed When Commuter Trains Collide Head-On in Italy

(MILAN) – Two Italian commuter trains collided head-on Tuesday in the southern region of Puglia, killing at least 20 people and injuring scores more, officials said. At least two passengers were pulled alive from the crumpled wreckage as the rescue operation took place in the scorching heat. Giuseppe Corrado, vice president of the province of...

via 20 Killed When Commuter Trains Collide Head-On in Italy – TIME