

Shortage in menopause medicine forcing women to swap drugs with strangers

A shortage of certain hormone replacement therapy medicines is leading desperate women to swap the drugs with strangers in car parks or buy them on forums, according to campaigners...

Read More