

Teen with severe eating disorder dies, two months after judge said doctors could stop giving nutrition

A 19-year-old woman with a severe eating disorder has died two months after a judge ruled that doctors could lawfully stop providing her with “artificial nutrition and hydration...”

Read More